Changes to the Securitas Group Management team

Henrik Zetterberg is appointed Divisional President Europe as Peter Karlströmer steps down.

Securitas is a world-leading safety and security solutions partner and provides outstanding services for our clients by combining our extensive presence with connected technology and intelligent use of data.

Today, we are happy to announce that Henrik Zetterberg, currently Chief Operating Officer Europe and a member of Group Management and with Securitas since 2014, is appointed to the role of Divisional President Europe as Peter Karlströmer steps down. All other Group Management members continue in their current roles.

- I am delighted to appoint Henrik Zetterberg as president of our European division. Henrik has demonstrated very strong leadership and has been successful in many different roles, most recently being responsible for the day-to-day operations in all countries in our European division and driving several important strategic projects, such as client excellence and the STANLEY Security acquisition. Henrik is client focused, people centric and result oriented, which is what we need to continue our journey in Europe. I am confident that Henrik will excel in his new role, says Magnus Ahlqvist, President and CEO.

Peter Karlströmer, who has been with Securitas since 2019 as Divisional President Europe, has decided to leave Securitas to pursue opportunities outside of the company.

- Peter has been instrumental in the transformation of Securitas in Europe. I want to take the opportunity to thank Peter for all his leadership, drive, and care for our people, and wish him the best of luck for the future, says Magnus Ahlqvist, President and CEO.

This change will be effective immediately; however, Peter Karlströmer will remain in the company to support an orderly handover until December 31, 2022.
